

Hutchison China

The China operations group of Hutchison Whampoa Limited

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES
in SHANGHAI,
CHINA

Hutchison Whampoa Limited (HWL) is a Hong Kong based multinational conglomerate with over 150,000 employees worldwide. Hutchison MediPharma Limited is its subsidiary division focused on innovative drug development for the global markets. Currently, the Company has the following opening for research management position in its R&D Center located in Shanghai, China;

Pharmaceutical R&D, Director/Senior Director — Lead the formulation group and support drug candidate development from pre-clinical studies to clinical manufacture.

Job Responsibilities:

Design and develop pre-formulation technical platforms to support drug discovery. Develop clinical formulations for human trials and process technology for clinical supply manufacture. Provide technical guidance to laboratory scientists and solve operational problems. Write technical reports and prepare regulatory submission documents. Select, qualify and manage external vendors for drug product manufacture. Assist in project portfolio and talent development within Pharmaceutical Sciences Division.

Qualifications:

PhD or equivalent in chemistry, pharmacy or a related scientific major with > 8 years industrial drug R&D experience focusing on pre-formulation and formulation development for small-molecule new chemical entities. The candidate must demonstrate a track record of successful drug product development for clinical trials encompassing the stages of pre-formulation evaluation, formulation design, process research and manufacture operations. The candidate must be familiar with the pharmaceutical development process and regulatory submission requirements for the Chemistry, Manufacture and Control (CMC) sections. Proficiencies in English and Chinese in both written and verbal forms are required. Good supervisory and communication skills are required.

If you share our goal to become one of the global leaders in new drug discovery and development, and a leader in the ever-growing healthcare industry in China, we encourage you to apply. Please submit a cover letter, your CV, and your expected compensation package by e-mail to hr@hmpglobal.com or fax us at 011-86-21-50793595.